"THE LAST MAN," ADVENTURE SEA ROMANCE, AT WARNER'S

With such dramatic elements as romance, piracy, mutiny, the lure of a million dollars in gold and comedy, "The Last Man," which plays Friday and Saturday at Warner Bros. San Pedro Theatre, should easily prove one of the most novel screen offerings of the year. The picture is a sea adventure story, with Charles Bickford in the principal male lead and Constance Cummings playing opposite him. Howard Higgin and Keene Thompson wrote the story. "The Last Man" has an opening strongly reminiscent of the one used in the memorable Foreign Legion film, "Beau Geste." A tramp steamer is found, drifting aimlessly, by a freighter, with a dozen dead men propped up against a bulkhead while another man, half out of his mind, is in front of them like a man on trial before a jury. From that point on the story is said to proceed with breathless speed to narrate the chain of exciting incidents which led to the strange situation found on the ship. A most unusual and extraordinary type of story comes to Warner Bros. screen next Sunday for a four-day engagement. It is "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," starring Paul Muni, with the most brilliant supporting cast ever used at the Warner Studio. Besides romance, there is a grim realistic story of life in a chain gang, with its racking tortures and unutterable cruelties; spectacular and thrilling episodes of a man's flight from bloodhounds and armed guards in which he narrowly escapes death on several occasions. Paul Muni, the famous stage and screen star, heads the cast with Glenda Farrell, Helen Vinson, Preston Foster, Edward J. McNamara, Sheila Terry and many other notable players in support. Mervyn LeRoy directed.

TELLS ALL ABOUT "SPECS"

The "Specs" are back! Harold Lloyd's famous glasses are again seen in "Movie Crazy," with Constance Cummings, coming Thursday and Friday, November 24 and 25, to the Torrance Theatre. Performances Thanksgiving Day will be continuous from 2 to 11 p. m.

Thrilling Serial Starts Saturday

The long-awaited bombshell of serial action, Universal's "Heroes of the West," will open at the Torrance Theatre, Saturday, November 19, in its initial episode, with Noah Beery, Jr., pretty Diane Duval and Onslow Stevens in the featured roles. The new serial will be played during matinee performances only. The chapter thriller, embracing "The Tie That Binds," by Peter B. Kyne, is a story of the lawless, dauntless days of the early West, the days of the pony express and the building of the first great railroad across the American Continent. The building of this great steel highway was fraught with the greatest danger, and called for the highest courage of John Blaine, to whom a contract was awarded to build a section of the road. With his son, Noah, a boy of 15—adventure-loving and ambitious to become a famous Indian scout—and his daughter, Ann, a girl of 21, John Blaine trekked across the treacherous country, Indian-infested, and established his construction camp in the heart of Wyoming.

"SHOOTING" THE WILDS

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, surrounded by pygmies, as they are about to photographically smash through the barrier of the ages. Their newest and most thrilling adventures in the jungle are unfolded in "Congorilla," a Fox picture, showing at the Torrance Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 22 and 23.

NOTICE OF MEETING. The annual meeting of stockholders of the Torrance Auditorium Company will be held in the office of the Dominguez Land Corporation, Torrance, California, Thursday, December 1, 1932, at 4:30 p. m. Louis F. Bennett, secretary.

Can all of these obstacles be overcome—the contract retained—and the road built on time? Will they survive the deadly attacks of the savages, who, resenting the coming of the railroad, tear up the tracks and invoke their Great Spirit to help them destroy the white man and drive him from their lands?
